

THE NEWS MADE FOR YOU

FOR VIEWS ON SPORTS,

Music to Live By

Wednesday, December 5, 2001; Page A28

I never met George Harrison, but after listening to his music for 23 years I could almost call him a friend.

 E-Mail This Article

 Printer-Friendly Version

 Subscribe to The Post

Back in 1980, the year that John Lennon was murdered, I was in high school, doing things I should not have been doing and wanting to drop out. By the grace of God and my own determination, I was able to pull myself together and eventually finish high school and graduate from college. Through those tough times, I turned to music, namely the Beatles, and then to the solo careers of each Beatle. I still have all their albums and would not part with that part of my history.

George Harrison's music inspired me to make the most of life, which is something we should all care to do. He will be missed, but through his songs, he will inspire an infinite number of people. Mr. Harrison sang "All Things Must Pass," but his inspiration will not.

ANTHONY VELA

Baiting Hollow, N.Y.